

LOW-WAGE ECONOMY EXPOSED Inequality in the USA

The Pope, the president, economists and even business leaders all agree: income inequality in our country and world has grown to a level that is devastating our families, our economy and our businesses.

The low-pay, erratic scheduling and part-timing of work by large, profitable corporations that can afford to provide good jobs is at the center of this problem.

We want our elected officials, and those who are looking for our votes in November, to lead the way on turning the economy around for our families by holding these corporations accountable.
