

Walmart just laid off 2,000 people

WE'RE FIGHTING BACK!

Walmart recently closed 5 stores, laying off more than 2,000 people with just hours' notice. Their excuse? A national outbreak of plumbing emergencies. Only, none of the stores have received any permits to do the work.

We know what's really going on. The California Pico Rivera store that Walmart closed was the first store to ever go out on strike. As leaders of OUR Walmart and the Fight for $15 movement, Pico Rivera workers held a sit-down strike in their store and even participated in civil disobedience last Fall.

Walmart closed Pico Rivera to try to silence workers who speak up for changes like better wages, respect on the job and access to full-time, consistent schedules. It's not going to work.

This isn't the first time Walmart has shut down a store to try to silence workers. Last June, the Canadian Supreme Court ruled that Walmart broke the law when it closed a Walmart there after workers voted to unionize. That's why we need to fight back and let Walmart know, this can't stand!

TELL WALMART:

STOP TRYING TO SILENCE WORKERS!

- 1) TRANSFER ALL WORKERS
- 2) GUARANTEE COMPENSATION THROUGH THE TRANSITION
- 3) LET THEM RETURN TO THEIR STORE WHEN IT REOPENS
