

Protesting and Strength in Numbers – the Wolf Pack

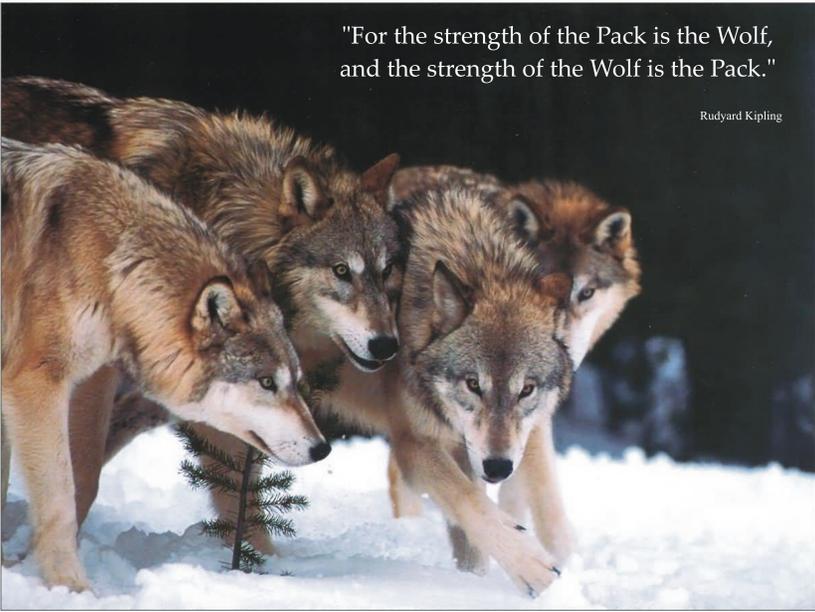

“There may be times when we are powerless to prevent injustice, but there must never be a time when we fail to protest.” — Elie Wiesel

Action Together Tampa Bay believes in a comprehensive, multi-pronged approach to creating social and political change. A vital part of this strategy is to BE RESPECTFUL, BE INSISTENT, AND BE PERSISTENT... BE HEARD.

A non-violent protest is moral and ethical because force is not used. It is a powerful tool because authority is put on the spot and does not know how to respond without offending the general public. It generates public awareness of a serious problem that requires a solution. Resistance doesn't have to manifest itself as people coming out in the streets in massive numbers (however, when large numbers of people in key sectors of society stop obeying and engage in prolonged acts of social, political, and economic disruption, they can fundamentally alter the relationship between ruler and ruled). Resistance is likely to take the form of stay-aways, sit-ins, occupations, economic boycotts, and so forth.

ATTB encourages members who are experienced at protesting to come together and work as a team to tackle the many opportunities to protest in the Tampa Bay area. Members who are less experienced but want to learn will be mentored. No member will be asked or expected to participate in any protest that they feel uncomfortable supporting 100%. When needed, the Wolf Pack will link up with other protestors throughout Florida, either to coordinate efforts in solidarity rallies or even to travel to participate and boost numbers – and thus boost media attention and political impact. Do not underestimate the impact we can have on representatives in City Hall or in Tallahassee who see signs and hear protestors on their way in to work or at a public event. The Wolf Pack is a critical component of the Resistance.

A pack mentality of extreme loyalty and devotion to the group binds the wolves together as a unit.

Wolves exhibit visible signs of the strength of their pack behavior through unique body language.
