Climate change is a serious problem in Arizona that requires action on many fronts and political levels. We support:

--Strong climate action plans at the municipal, county, and state levels.

--Policies to transition from greenhouse gas emitting fuels like coal to clean energy like solar and wind.

--Savings to Arizona homeowners and residents by urging private and public leaps to clean energy.

--Declarations of climate emergency and implementation of strong climate emergency measures related to flooding, drought, and fire.

In facing these challenges, through decisive action these measures will create jobs, protect Arizona's natural resources, promote human health, reduce catastrophic forest fires and
