

Breathing Better: Healthy Schools Forum

Tuesday, April 4

11 a.m. – 4:30 p.m.

Legislative Office Building
Hearing Room 1C

The Breathing Better: Healthy Schools Forum, held on National Health Schools Day, promotes clean air in every school and the need to urgently address the problem of unsafe air, caused by poor heating and ventilations systems, impacting the most disadvantaged communities and their schools the hardest.

The forum will commemorate the 20th anniversary of Connecticut's landmark 2003 School Indoor Air Quality legislation, highlighting the importance of clean indoor school environments to children's health and ability to learn. Local, state, and national experts will discuss lessons learned over the past two decades, opportunities for continued advocacy moving forward, and post pandemic approaches to keeping schools safe.

A panel of legislators, led by Senators Julie Kushner and Saud Anwar, and Rep. Jennifer Leeper, will discuss the implementation of the recommendations of the Legislature's School Indoor Air Quality Working Group.

For more information and to register, visit cea.org/event/breathing-better-healthy-schools-forum.

The forum is sponsored by The Connecticut Foundation for Environmentally Safe Schools (ConnFESS), CEA, AFL-CIO, AFT Connecticut, CCAG, ConnectiCOSH, and the National Healthy Schools Network.